

NEW FACTORY SECURED FOR DIXON BY C. OF C.

EXECUTION OF TWO DELAYED; NOW COMPLEX

Two Reprieves Today Follow Couple of Court Orders

BULLETIN
Franklin, La., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Sheriff Peot announced today that Governor Huey P. Long had again reprieved Ada Bonner LeBouef and Dr. Thomas E. Dreher, until next Saturday.

Major Oscar Schneider, who was sent here as official representative of the Governor, had previously said that if the Governor ordered the hanging it would have to be carried out by the Sheriff, barring some court order, or that officer would be subject to arrest.

The Sheriff had explained that he was trying to do his duty and that he believed he would succeed.

"I want to find out what is the proper course and then go ahead," he said.

The executioner with his black mask had arrived from New Orleans and was prepared to officiate when the latest reprieve came.

At the jail it was said that the shifting orders had just about driven Mrs. LeBouef and Dr. Dreher frantic. They caught a few cats during the night broken by flashes of lightning, loud thunder claps and creaking rain around 3 o'clock when awakened by the jailer on orders of the Sheriff and told of the Governor's reprieve, they were so relieved and happy then that they couldn't sleep.

The Sheriff explained that the Governor told him that since the state Supreme Court had agreed to reconsider the case he had decided to grant a final reprieve until next Saturday. If the court overruled the defense again, the Governor was quoted as saying, he would set another date for the hanging. Then came word that the Governor had withdrawn the reprieve and later word that he had granted it again.

Franklin, La., Jan. 5.—(AP)—The scheduled hanging of Mrs. Ada Bonner LeBouef and Dr. Thomas E. Dreher became still more confused today when Governor Long announced at Baton Rouge that he had cancelled his instructions to Sheriff Peot not to proceed with the executions.

"I have asked the state Supreme Court for instructions in the matter," the Governor said. "I have directed the Sheriff to disregard my previous orders."

Sheriff Undecided
Sheriff Peot said today, when informed of the Governor's statement, that he had not decided whether to proceed with the hanging later today as originally ordered.

"I am awaiting further instructions from the Governor and the Supreme Court," he announced.

The Sheriff was placed in a perplexing situation last night, when Chief Justice Charles A. O'Neill of the Louisiana Supreme Court ordered a stay of execution and four Associate Justices directed the Sheriff to carry out the executions.

A reprieve granted by Governor Long early today, however, seemed to clarify the situation, but it became more involved when he rescinded his previous instructions.

Retired Merchant of Amboy is Dead

FEED THE BIRDS

Bird lovers and friends of the feathered favorites, are urged to arrange for the feeding of the birds. Has Passed Its 100th Hour in Air: Ship and Men are O. K.

Metropolitan Airport, Los Angeles, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The monoplane Question Mark kept on grinding out aviation history today as its endurance flight continued for the fifth day.

Completing its ninety-sixth hour in the air at 7:28 A. M., the Army monoplane began to get within striking distance of the endurance record of 118 hours established by the French dirigible Dixmude. The feat of keeping an airplane up long enough to break the endurance record of a lighter-than-air machine—an idea which heretofore has been considered fantastic—thus appeared within reach.

The Question Mark took on 150 gallons of gasoline at 7 a. m., in contact with refueling plane No. 1 and then was reported to be in excellent condition.

Weather Unfavorable

Refueling plane No. 2 took the air shortly afterward to deliver breakfast, oil and mail to the endurance plane's crew.

Sullen clouds swirled above the airport here this morning as the sun tried to break through and warm the chill of the ocean breeze.

Despite the slightly unfavorable weather, Major Carl Spatz, commanding officer of the ship, gave no indication that he would turn southward in search of a warmer climate. The crew still remembered that harrowing passage over the mountains to Imperial Valley on the third day when the buffeting of winds caused their gasoline to run dangerously low.

By 9 a. m. the sky had cleared. With the weather then ideal and the motors working flawlessly, the Question Mark turned back on its old course between here and Rockwell Field, San Diego.

Major Spatz dropped a message that the plane would return here for refueling at noon and again at 4 p. m. He indicated it was planned to remain in the vicinity of Los Angeles tonight.

Metropolitan Airport, Los Angeles, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Cruising serenely onward into uncharted time spaces of the air the Question Mark today groped for the answer to the question of how close man and machine contrivances can approach the birds in sustained flight.

Becoming in reality a question mark of the skies as it soared toward dirigible records after dropping all existing airplane endurance records from the air, the tri-motored Fokker still held back the solution of whether, given unlimited fuel and supplies, men or motors would crack first in continuous flight.

Having firmly tested its wings in overcoming extremely troublesome weather, motor and fuel problems, the Question Mark at 5:26 a. m. today passed its ninety-fourth hour in the air. It then had supported its conquering crew of five aloft for more than a full day longer than man ever flew before in an airplane.

At dawn tomorrow morning if the thus-far smoothly functioning 225 horsepower motors continue their uninterrupted droning the Question Mark will have eclipsed all existing lighter-than-air endurance records and will then become supreme in the air.

The dirigible endurance record of 118 hours made several years ago by the French-owned Dixmude will be passed at 5:26 a. m. Sunday morning. Several hours earlier the crew will have claimed the record of 111 hours, 46 minutes made by the Graf Zeppelin in its recent flight to America.

Although not designed as a distance flight the army's air-blazer at the present time has opened new vistas of distance to aviation, it being estimated the ship has covered well over 6,500 miles, which if in a bee-line eastward would have carried it far out over the European continent.

Barring adverse flying conditions that would prevent refueling of the ship's builders and army sponsors believe the plane can fly for 300 hours, which if in straight line flight would nearly girdle the globe.

The plane's motors still sounded as if they were functioning perfectly, air corps officers said.

King George Shows Continued Progress

London, Jan. 5.—(AP)—King George has scored another gain in his fight for recovery. After two days in which His Majesty's condition remained stationary, his doctors were able this morning to report a further slight improvement.

The medical bulletins meanwhile have showed that the King was passing his days more comfortably and resting better at night. This gratifying state of affairs, it was taken for granted was notably helpful in bringing about the betterment announced today. The morning bulletin said: "The King has had a good night and there is a slight improvement in His Majesty's condition."

SAY EZRA DUFFY'S PRISON FARM STILL TO BE DISCOVERED

Seek Former Dixonite To Have Him Visit Rockford Alky Plant

Ezra Duffy of Chicago, former Dixon resident, will be taken to Rockford as soon as he can be located to view the site of yesterday morning's early raid on a huge distillery plant located about five miles west of Beloit in Winnebago county. Sheriff Ward Miller and deputies who were active in the investigation into Duffy's kidnaping by Rockford alcohol gang members several months ago, were called to Rockford yesterday afternoon to confer with State's Attorney William Knight after he had made a thorough inspection of the plant.

The Lee county officers were said to have been questioned as to the present whereabouts of Ezra Duffy, who was kidnaped by Italian alcohol runners here several months ago and held a captive at a huge distilling plant for a number of days. Kidnaping charges preferred against members of the gang in the Lee county circuit court were dismissed one of the principals paying a small fine on a charge of carrying concealed weapons after which his attorney demanded the return of the weapon from Sheriff Miller and was promptly refused. The Winnebago county authorities feel confident that the plant raided early yesterday morning is the one where Duffy was held captive and that the parties taken are members of the same band who planned the kidnaping.

Sheriff Miller accompanied Sheriff Harry Baldwin and several deputies to the big distilling plant yesterday afternoon and arrived just as the dismantling task has been completed. The Lee county sheriff was requested to visit the scene and inspect the property to ascertain whether or not the buildings and location agreed with the description furnished by Ezra Duffy. Returning to Rockford, Sheriff Miller informed the Winnebago county authorities that there was no similarity in the descriptions of the plants or their locations. Sheriff Baldwin, however, still believes that the location of the recent raid is the place where Duffy was held.

Description Does Not Tally
In some details the property answers the description, Sheriff Miller said upon his return to Dixon last evening, but added that he was convinced that it was not the place where Duffy was taken.

"In the first place, Duffy described the barn where he was held captive to be covered with a corrugated metal roof. The barn we visited has an old shingle roof. He also described the manner in which the course of a small creek had been changed to run through the barn and cool the coils, and there is no creek near the premises viewed yesterday. I am satisfied from Duffy's description of the buildings and the location that this is not the place, although it looks like the same men who were interested in the Duffy affair several months ago, might have some interest in the plant discovered Thursday morning. It was a big affair, but was crude in its construction and was by no means as well equipped and operated as the one described by Duffy."

Is Near Rockton

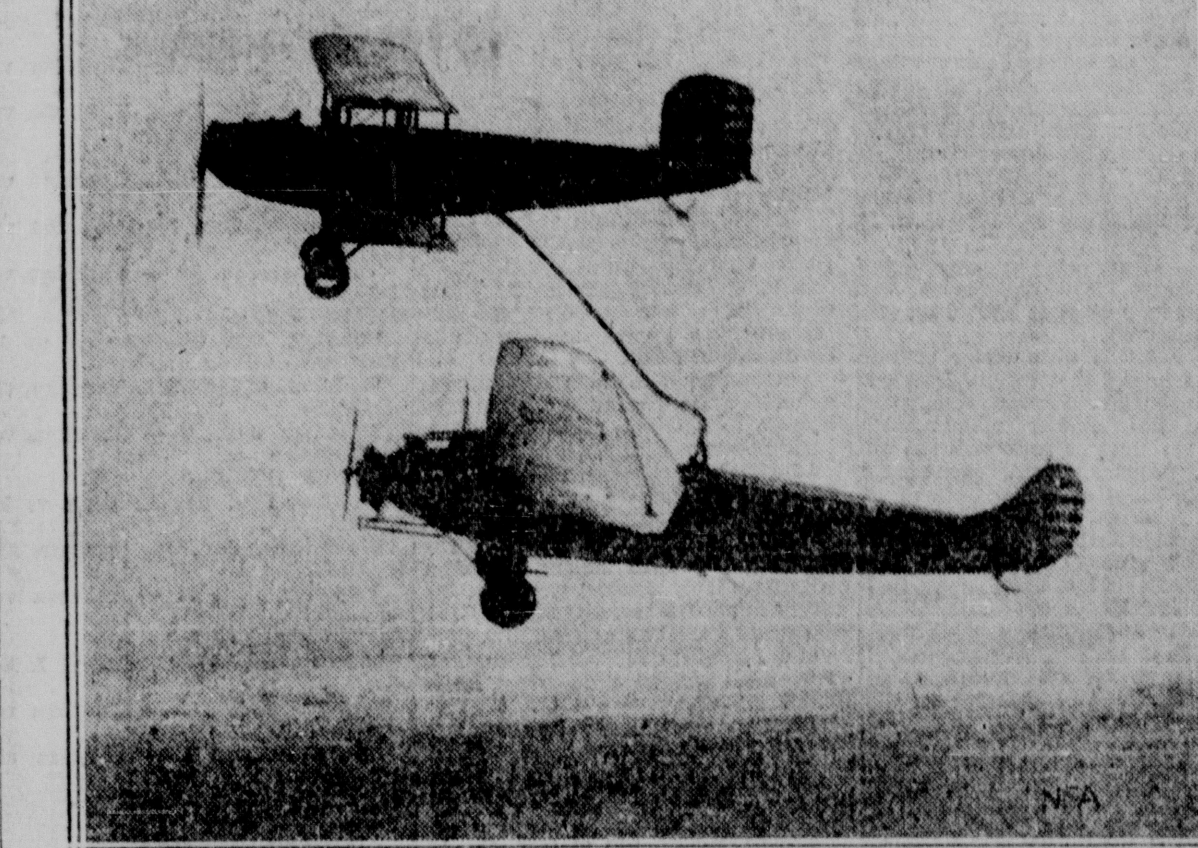

The plant visited by the Lee County officers is situated about four miles west of Rockton. The buildings set back some distance from the road and a lane leading to the farm has been closed, all traffic passing through the barn yard of an adjoining farm on which an Italian family resides, to throw off suspicion. The entire basement had been deepened and converted into a battery of huge cement tanks where the corn sugar was dumped, water was pumped in and yeast was added to cause quick fermentation. Several gallons of kerosene and other debris about the building were dumped in these yesterday by the Winnebago county sheriff's forces, as it was deemed impossible to destroy the heavy cement tanks without completely destroying the two story frame house which covered them.

Chicago Bombers Starting The New Year Auspiciously
Chicago, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The second bombing of the New Year shattered the entrance to a newly opened west side restaurant early today. Windows in adjoining buildings were broken by the bomb, made from a tin pail, plaster of paris, and black powder.

A third bombing wrecked the entrance to the Crawford grill several hours later as a result of what police described as rivalry between beer runners. Damage was estimated at $1,500. Frank Kosmeska, owner of the building, was hurled from his bed in the rear of the place, but was uninjured.

RE-FUELING IN THE AIR

First Picture of Question Mark and Army Aviators Who Seek New Record for Sustained Flight

This remarkable photograph, taken from another plane, shows the big army transport Question Mark being refueled in mid-air during its attempt to set a world record for sustained flight as it flew between Los Angeles and San Diego, Calif. Gasoline and oil are transferred from the supply plane, flying above, by means of a long hose. Major Carl Spatz, commanding officer of the Question Mark, is shown directing the transfer at the lower end of the hose.

HOOVER SHIP HAS ROUGH SEAS FOR FINISH OF TRIP

President-Elect is Anxious to get to Washington Tomorrow

U. S. S. Utah, En Route to Hampton Roads, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover faced this, his last day at sea, anxious to get to Washington to tackle the next big job ahead—that of selecting his official family. He plans to start right in with a series of conferences with party leaders over the country and especially those men who were foremost in his counsels during the campaign. He is hopeful that he can get through in a week in order to be able to go to Florida for recreation and fishing, with perhaps later a whirlwind tour of the West Indies, including Cuba, Haiti, Santo Domingo and Porto Rico.

The last few days at sea have not been altogether to Mr. Hoover's liking as the Utah encountered a couple of squalls with stiff winds and choppy seas, with more rough water in prospect for today as the ship nears Cape Hatteras.

Will Land on Time

Despite somewhat unfavorable weather, the Utah is still making good time and will probably arrive at Hampton Roads Sunday an hour or two ahead of the scheduled time, 8 a. m., unless fog is encountered off the Virginia coast.

As a memento of the homeward trip, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover today received a pair of brass candle sticks and brass bonbon trays designed and made in the ship's shop. The presentation was without ceremony, Captain Train handing the gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Hoover in their suite.

Mr. Hoover today gave the Utah wardroom officers an autographed photograph of himself. The photograph was framed and placed in the wardroom along with those of former President Taft and the late President Harding who once were guests on this vessel. The photograph bears this inscription: "To Wardroom Officers U. S. S. Utah, with kind regards of Herbert Hoover."

Dr. Simon P. Long Died on Thursday

Word has been received here of the death of Rev. Simon Peter Long, prominent for several seasons as lecturer at the Rock River assembly. Rev. Long, for 15 years pastor of the Wicker Park Lutheran church and widely known beyond the limits of his denomination, died Thursday evening at 5 o'clock in the study at his home.

He was ordained in 1886 and had occupied the pulpit at St. Paul's Lutheran church in this city on several occasions, as well as being closely affiliated with the program at the Assembly. He is survived by a widow and four married daughters. Funeral rites will be held Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Wicker Park Lutheran church with burial at that place.

NEAR ZERO BY MORNING SAYS WEATHER MAN

Cold Wave Following Rain and Snow of this Morning

Chicago, Jan. 5.—(AP)—On the heels of the New Year's cold wave, which overspread the middle west, a few blankets of snow, with near zero temperatures today covered the section from the Mississippi to the Ohio river.

The new cold wave was preceded by rain, snow, and sleet which seriously hampered rail and wire communications and in Iowa had caused three deaths from accidents attributed to the storm.

In Chicago the cold wave was preceded by snow and rain, and a temperature of about 5 above zero was expected tonight. Omaha reported a five inch snow and near zero weather and Iowa anticipated subzero temperatures before tomorrow.

The weather forecast indicated clear, cold weather over most of the middle west tomorrow with warmer weather following.

RICKARD FACING HARD FIGHT FOR LIFE IN FLORIDA

Famous Sports Promoter in Serious Condition this Morn

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Tex Rickard is "slightly better but his condition still is critical," said a bulletin issued shortly before 9 a. m. today by Dr. E. H. Atkins, the physician who operated on the New York promoter last Tuesday for acute gangrenous appendicitis.

"Rickard is slightly better this morning, but his condition is still critical," it said. "The inflammation has subsided slightly. This morning his pulse was 128. Last night it was 146. His temperature this morning is 102.4. Last night it was 104."

Water Fields, intimate friend of the promoter, who relieved Mrs. Rickard at the bedside early today said Tex had a restful sleep near midnight and upon awakening remarked that he "felt better than at time since the operation."

When Fields told Tex that Jack Dempsey had arrived during the night, Rickard expressed a desire to see him immediately and was disappointed when he was told the doctors would not allow Jack to call today.

Mrs. Rickard, who has been at her husband's bedside almost constantly since the operation, was worn by the ordeal. She left the hospital reluctantly this morning at the insistence of attendants that she get some much-needed rest. She refused to leave until Dr. Atkins had assured her that her husband's condition showed improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown of Sterling transacted business in Dixon Friday afternoon.

SHERIFFS FIGHT OVER POSSESSION OF WOMAN'S BODY

But Both Investigate the Mystery of Death of P. O. Clerk

Nokomis, Ill., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Mystery surrounds the death of Miss Carrie Bruns, 19, whose body was found last night beside the Pana highway by two men returning from a basketball game at Rosemond.

Miss Bruns, post office clerk of Ohlman, near here, had worked until 8 p. m., yesterday. The body was found a mile and a half from the village by "Dutch" Anderson and a St. Louis salesman, whose name was not learned, who were returning from Rosemond.

Miss Bruns lived in Ohlman with her mother, Mrs. Anna Bruns.

Ohlman, Ill., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Sheriffs of two counties today were investigating the mysterious death last night of Miss Carrie Bruns, 19 year old post office clerk.

The girl's body, disclosing no marks of violence, was found last night just across the Christian county line, lying near a hard road. She was carried to Ohlman, across the line in Montgomery county and the sheriffs of Christian and Montgomery counties were summoned.

A quandy as to which sheriff held jurisdiction today held up the autopsy which physicians said would be necessary to determine the cause of her death.

Miss Bruns' mother was waiting for the girl at her home in Ohlman when she was informed the body had been found. Authorities today could advance no theory for the death, nor explain how Miss Bruns was carried into Christian county. She was supposed to have started home after leaving work last night.

Fulfs Store Again Robbed Last Night

The Fulfs Brothers confectionery store was the scene of another robbery during the night and the place was generally ransacked. The thief apparently became frightened while prowling about in the store gathering up such articles as met his fancy. A large paper bag had been filled with cigarettes from the cigar case and this was also left lying near the sack. Entrance was gained by breaking a window on the north side of the building. The police were notified this morning and are conducting an investigation. The store was entered a few weeks ago and the intruder left with a small amount of loot, apparently having been frightened while ransacking the stock.

Freeport Co. Pays Workers Big Bonus

Freeport, Ill., Jan. 5.—(AP)—A special bonus fund amounting to nearly $100,000 was distributed today among nearly 600 employees of the W. T. Rawleigh Co. The bonus was given all employees of two years or over.

THOMAS-KERNS COMPANY WILL MOVE FROM R.I.

Manufacturers of Merchandise Vending Machines Coming

The successful culmination late Friday afternoon of four months of negotiations between the Dixon Chamber of Commerce and The Thomas-Kearns Co. of Rock Island, for the removal of the latter's factory from Rock Island to this city, was announced by President Ray Kline and the Industrial committee of the Chamber this morning, being the finest kind of a New Year's greeting the Chamber could possibly give to the citizens of Dixon.

The new concern, manufacturers of merchandise-vending machines, will be located in the Schildberg building on the old college campus, and work of remodeling and improving the structure to meet the needs of the new factory is now under way. These improvements include the construction of numerous fire walls, the installation of an elevator and the re-arrangement of floor space to permit the proper arrangement of machinery. When completed the alterations will give the Thomas-Kearns Co. initial floor space requirements of 10,000 square feet, which will be augmented as needs require.

Has Bright Future

Members of the Chamber of Commerce today are jubilant over the success of the negotiations, for the future of the Thomas-Kearns Co. is exceptionally bright. The company holds patents on several machines for vending package merchandise, and several large contracts are now under negotiation, which when completed will insure the new plant starting off at capacity at an early date. The contract between the Chamber of Commerce and the company provides that the plant shall be in operation thirty days after the preparation of the factory building is completed and it is turned over to them.

The machines which the firm manufactures are utilized to vend merchandise in all but the extremely large sized packages and big firms everywhere are adopting them as labor saving devices. They operate on the same principle as gum-vending machines, whereby customers are able to wait on themselves.

Official Jubilant

Mr. Thomas, president of the company, has had thirty-five years experience in the manufacturing business, and he is over-bounding in his enthusiasm for the future of the new company, to which he recently came. He comes to Dixon with the highest kind of recommendations, and has announced that he will move his family to this city at the earliest possible time.

Sales Manager Kertz, who was ten years Professor of Economics at the University of Iowa before he entered the sales profession, will also move to Dixon at once. He too, shares the enthusiasm of his president, and the members of the Industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce, after the most careful investigation of the company and its prospects are equally optimistic.

BANDIT GETS A LIFE SENTENCE FOR A ROBBERY

Habitual Criminal Act Is Brought Into Use By DuPage Jury

Chicago, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The habitual criminal act in Illinois has been applied by DuPage county in one of the few instances it has been used against a Chicago criminal.

Thomas P. McGorty, a Chicago bandit and once an associate of Charles "Limpy" Cleaver, the Evergreen mail robber, yesterday was sentenced to prison for the rest of his life on a robbery charge.

He was convicted of having robbed Clarence McPeck, a taxicab driver, near Elmhurst, Ill., and wounding a policeman, Ira Paxton.

In returning the verdict, the jury found McGorty was guilty of the robbery and that he had been convicted previously of robbery, thus making the life sentence mandatory.

Think Human Bones are Found in Ashes

Orville, Ohio, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Prosecutor Walter J. Muogey today said that ashes taken from the home of Elias Arnold had revealed what appeared to be human bones. Arnold is one of five persons being held in connection with the disappearance of four-year-old Melvin Horst.

The prosecutor said the ashes would be turned over to the chemical department of Wooster College for a further analysis.

The prosecutor, who until recently said he believed that Melvin was dead, did not explain what led him to examine the ashes.

Besides Arnold, his two sons, Arthur and William Arnold; Mrs. Bascom McHenry, Arnold's daughter, and her husband are held on charges of child stealing.

All have admitted their dislike of Marshall Roy Horst, uncle of Melvin, who has arrested them several times on liquor charges, but denied any complicity in the boy's disappearance.

KELLOGG PACT SUPPORTED BY SEN. SWANSON

Calls it a Feeble but Noble Gesture for Peace of World

Washington, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The Kellogg treaty to renounce war was described in the Senate today by Senator Swanson of Virginia, the ranking Democrat on the foreign relations committee, as a "mere gesture for peace" but a "noble gesture" which spoke the wish of the world for the outlawry of war.

As an instrument which would effectively abolish armed conflict, the treaty will be found "ineffective and disappointing," he declared, but for the Senate to reject it would be a step which would cause the United States to be misunderstood and misrepresented throughout the world as possessed of "imperialist aims and warlike purposes."

"The treaty speaks the voice of peace," Senator Swanson declared, "but places feeble restraints on the strong arm of war. I am unwilling to defeat this treaty and silence this voice of peace, however feeble, crying out in a world wilderness of threatened war and woe. The voice may become louder and more potent through the receding years."

Most any Senator Swanson said, could be fought on the pretense of self defense and therefore he contended the Kellogg pact, by reserving the right of nations to carry on such wars, would be an ineffective instrument against war.

Sanford Collins of Rockford, who operates a truck between that city and Sterling, came to grief last evening at 5 o'clock on Everett street and Hennepin avenue when his truck caught fire and the fire department was summoned, the police following. The truck driver pleaded guilty to the charge and was assessed a fine of $100 and costs which he was arranging to pay this morning.

Manslaughter Charge Against Two Negroes

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Manslaughter charges today were faced by Daniel and Thomas Wicket, Negroes, of Chicago, as a result of an automobile accident near here Sunday in which Robert Morris, 8 years old, was fatally injured.

Robert was killed when the Wicket automobile collided with one driven by Everett Morris, his father.

The grand jury which returned the indictment also recommended that Samuel Fullmore of Chicago, alleged driver of the Wicket car, be apprehended and held to await grand jury action.

The brothers said the car was driven by Fullmore and that he ran from the scene of the accident. It was testified by witnesses before the Coroner's jury, however, that the two Negroes were only occupants of the car. One of them admitted taking several drinks enroute to Chicago.

ON THE HEARTH-RUG—

A flick on the gray of the hearth-rug;
A stretching of dainty bronze paws;
A yawn and a curling together
In a ball of beautiful floss!
A glint of the fire that is burning

A glint and the picture is painted in lines all fair with fame!

A chill is against the window;
The bleak flakes float and fall!
The wind is there to the northward
With many a mournful call!
But here in the light of the fireplace
Where birth logs throw their gleam,
Four pretty paws are folded
In the warmth of a pleasant dream!

He is bright as the gold of Ophir
With eyes of the moon-stone's shine;
His coat is fluffy as feathers,
This blithe bonny darling of mine!
His spool is there beside him
Now that his romping is o'er;
And, like a child that is weary,
He lies—asleep—in the floor!

Burkhardt-Cox Wedding At St. Mary's, Sublette

A wedding of interest to friends was solemnized at St. Mary's church at Sublette at 9 o'clock Thursday, December 27th, when Miss Helen Burkhardt became the bride of James Cox.

The double ring service was performed by Rev. Joseph Weitkamp.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Thea Burkhardt, as maid of honor, and Miss Anna Cox, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid. Mr. Cox had as his attendants, William Gugerty of Dixon and Frank Burkhardt, a brother of the bride. Mrs. Cox wore a beautiful gown of cocoa georgette and a corsage of roses and sweet peas. The maid of honor and the bridesmaid were gowned in tan canton crepe and also wore corsages of roses and sweet peas.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burkhardt of Sublette. She attended St. Mary's school at Sublette and also the Amboy high school from which she was graduated in 1925.

The groom is the only son of John J. Cox and since the death of his mother twelve years ago, has made his home with his aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Duffey of Polo. He attended Brown's Business College at Freeport.

A three course wedding breakfast was served at the Burkhardt home to about sixty guests, following the ceremony.

On Sunday, at 1:30 o'clock a reception and shower was given the newlyweds at St. Mary's hall in Sublette by one hundred of their friends. They received many beautiful and useful gifts.

ST. JAMES AID TO MEET WEDNESDAY—

St. James Aid Society will hold an all day meeting Wednesday with Mrs. John Patterson at her home east of town, with a picnic dinner at noon.

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY.

BREAKFAST—Blackberries, cereal, creamed smoked fish, toasted graham rolls, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cream of celery soup, toasted cheese crackers, banana and tomato salad, apple tapioca pudding, lemonade.

DINNER—Warm over mutton, potatoes in parsley butter, creamed cauliflower, head lettuce with Russian dressing, elderberry pie, milk, coffee.

Some cooks think a tablespoon of vinegar added to the berries improves an elderberry pie. Other cooks hold that a pinch of salt, plenty of sugar and thorough baking insure a delicious pie.

Warm Over Mutton.

Two cups diced cold roast mutton, 4 small onions, 3 tablespoons butter or drippings, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup chopped tomatoes, 4 anchovies (optional), 1 dessert spoonful paprika, 1 teaspoon mixed dried herbs, 2 lemons, 3 cups stock.

Melt butter, drippings or oil and add onions thinly sliced. Cook over a low fire until onions are a golden brown and add flour. Stir until perfectly blended and add tomatoes, anchovies, paprika, mixed herbs, stock and juice of lemons. Cook until the mixture is reduced about one-third. Rub through a colander and add meat. Put in top of double boiled and cook over boiling water for one hour or longer. The water should be kept just below the boiling point.

If anchovies are not used, salt must be added with the seasoning. (Copyright, 1928, NEA Service, Inc.)

3. REMOVING NECESSARY RE-ENTRY

The Bidding: South bids no-trump and all pass.

Deciding the Play: West leads 2 of spades. What card should declarer play from dummy?

The Error: Declarer takes with the queen of spades in dummy and loses his contract.

The Correct Method: Declarer plays 6 of spades and takes with ace of spades. If declarer were to take with queen of spades he would probably be unable to establish the club suit. Opponents would hold off playing ace of clubs on the first round of clubs. They would play the ace of spades thereafter and declarer would not be able to return to dummy to establish the remaining clubs. Played correctly game is assured.

The Principle: Do not remove a re-entry that you will require to establish a suit.

The WOMAN'S DAY

A girl ran away the other day and straightway became page one news in every paper in the country. Maybe that's because she was a rich girl—so rich that her family could afford to charter an airplane to race with the limited on which the girl was running away. Perhaps there are good reasons why rich to-do should be made about this particular runaway girl. But just why much to-do should be made about runaway girls in general in this day and age which completely proves the average capability of youth is a question.

THEY LAP IT UP

The runaway or missing girl of a generation ago was a really serious problem. She "knew nothing of life," as the quaint old saying goes. But it's a rare runaway girl these days who gets into really serious trouble. She approaches the world as her oyster and proceeds to open it—generally without much need of a sledge hammer.

FLYING GRANDMAS

Flying grandmothers are as common as airplane weddings these days, so common that it won't be for long now that the report of a baby or an octogenarian flying in a plane will be considered news. Which is why we wonder, not because Mrs. C. E. Smith, 65, flew from Florida to attend her son's funeral in Hartford, Conn., but that it should be considered news.

ARE THEY GLAD

Wonder if today's grannies are glad they happened to be grannies in an age which permits such "goings-on" rather than chimney corner knitting? Still, there are many of the figurative chimney corner knitters left even today. Whether one will be that kind of granny or the airplane flying kind is a choice we may make today.

ORPHAN BOY

The story of an 11-year-old orphan boy found chained and padlocked to a bed in a dark room in an old Chicago house because, as he explained, he "did not wash dishes fast enough" to suit the people with whom he lived, shocks us. The shock is good for us and society in general. For it reminds us that children are sufficiently protected today to make such cruelty to them the unusual rather than the average state of affairs.

About a generation ago, before the development of the child welfare agency, an orphan boy or girl was prey for most anyone who wanted to exploit it for selfish gain. But nowadays it's almost as hard to get hands on an unprotected child as to fly to Mars. The Chicago case proves this, rarity that it is.

BOTH HONEST

Are men more dishonest than women is one of those how-old-is-Anne questions of the same breed as do-women-dress-to-please-men and which-sex-has-most-courage. Figures from the chief probation officer of a large city court proved that ex-convicts were by men and 50 per cent by women. Incidentally, only two per cent of parolees in general were broken.

LADY MARY'S PEEVE

Lady Mary Heath, who holds all sorts of aviation records, such as the British altitude record, for women, who hopped from South Africa to England on a non-stop flight, hopped back from Toronto to Buffalo the other day, quite riled by reports that she had given interviews in a country where she could get a drink. Lady Mary denied the report and her drinking proclivities.

Not only "women are like that," but all of us are "like that"—able to stand the big non-stop endurance test more easily than the little annoyance.

DIXON PEOPLE AT DINNER IN LA MOILLE—

Miss June Dunbar of LaMoille, entertained at dinner at seven o'clock on New Year's Eve the Misses Priscilla Fry and Lenore Rambo. At eight o'clock the Messrs. Gerry Sproul, Leo Gorman and John Newton of Dixon arrived and the young folks went to LaSalle to see "Prep an O'Pent" at the Majestic. After the show they motored to Dixon to attend an invitation dance in honor of Jerry Sproul. The young folks enjoyed the evening dancing after which refreshments were served. At the close of a jolly evening the girls returned to their homes at LaMoille.

WERE MARRIED IN ROCK FALLS—

Miss Helen Hintz of Prophetstown and Joseph Stewart of Sterling were married Dec. 29, at the parsonage of the Evangelical Lutheran church in Rock Falls, and will reside in Sterling where the bridegroom is employed.

GOLDEN RULE CLASS TO MEET MONDAY EVE—

The regular meeting of the Golden Rule Class of St. Paul's Lutheran church will be held at the church Monday evening, with Miss Lucille Pearce and Mesdames Elsie Hartzell, Jane Wickley and Hazel Carson as hostesses.

Women Seek Law Allowing Them to Serve as Jurors

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5—(AP)—Women on juries in Illinois is to be the major legislative endeavor of eleven state women's organizations.

Twice defeated by the Illinois Legislature, the movement for women on juries has been gathering momentum since the last session until now the women declare there is sufficient public opinion to warrant the legislators acceding to their request for jury service.

Added impetus has been given this conviction by organized action of the Illinois committee for women on juries comprised of representatives of eleven organizations, all of which will back the proposed bill. Organizations represented are:

Women's Bar association of Illinois; Illinois Federation of Women's clubs; Illinois League of Women Voters; Illinois Women's Trade Union League; Illinois Parent and Teachers association; Illinois association of Business and professional Women's clubs; Women's City Club of Chicago; Oak Park League of Women's voters; Chicago Woman's Aid; Chicago League of Women Voters Forum; National Council of Jewish Women, Chicago section.

"Probably two of the most over-worked arguments against women on juries," a committee statement said, "are the possibility of all night detention should they be called to service on a first degree murder trial, and the possibility of being forced to serve on disagreeable cases dealing with sex relations where they would be obliged to listen to a lot of unsavory testimony."

"Since women are constantly traveling long distances on railroad sleepers with men occupying neighboring berths in the care of a male porter, women should have no fear of the rare necessity of women and men jurors spending a night in separate quarters in a hotel in care of sheriffs and matrons."

"The fact that disagreeable cases dealing with sex relations involve women and girls is sufficient reason to warrant the presence of women jurors when the unfortunate victims may at least sense an atmosphere of sympathy and understanding of their own kind, instead of being compelled to face a room of men only as the Illinois law now imposes."

"The indictment that women are emotional, lenient and inexperienced has long ago been impaled in the states, twenty-one in number, where women have been permitted to participate in this function of justice. There is ample testimony available from judges, attorneys and others qualified to know of the capable, intelligent and conscientious service women have rendered in their capacity as jurors."

E. R. B. Class in Regular Meeting

The E. R. B. Class of St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday school held its regular meeting in the church parlors Thursday evening. There were eighteen members and seven visitors present.

Mrs. Julia Hubbard gave the Scripture reading. Mrs. Tobias Sweitzer offered prayer.

The usual business session was held, $25 being voted to the Campaign Fund for 1929.

Poems appropriate for the new year were read by several members of the class.

A guessing contest featured the social hour.

Dainty refreshments were later served by the social committee.

Monday to Be Busy For Women at "Y"

The girls of the women's department are to have a supper and program to start off the new year. Both classes of girls will come at 4:15, and it is hoped that all members will come and if there are new ones to come and enjoy this party. Come dressed in costume—this will add to the fun.

The women will enjoy the postponed "Poverty Party" at 7:15 Monday evening. Every member out in costume. Let each one come and start off the new year with a good attendance. The department welcomes all prospective members to this party. Come dressed for an evening of good fun and fellowship.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO MEET TUESDAY NIGHT—

STRAGGLING LOCKS INSPIRE HEADRESS

Paris-(AP)—A mesh hair band, meant to be worn with a shell or jeweled circlet, is one answer to the prayer for something to assist in keeping up the short ends of bobbed hair which is being allowed to grow.

The mesh band is several inches wide, and tightly swathed about the forehead, completely covering the hair about the face, or worn above curls or bangs, as the wearer fancies it is surmounted, in its original form, by a tortoise-shell circlet which sits high on the head, like a tiara.

Seeks Homes For Three Young Girls

Mrs. Robert Wallis, visitor of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, Chicago, Ill., was in Dixon yesterday seeking homes for three young girls as follows—There is Mabel 15 years old, a strong, very large girl who wants a home with a family in the country. She is a good worker and not a problem.

Mary who is 15 years old, also wants a home; is a pleasant, quiet girl.

Helen 13 year old, is musical and most interesting and needs a home.

Anyone interested in any of these girls, please write to Mrs. Robert Wallis, visitor of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, 203 North Washington, Chicago, Ill.

Amboy Couple Are Wed in Rockford

A pretty and quiet wedding took place in Rockford Thursday, Dec. 27, at St. James Cathedral, when two well known Amboy people, Miss Margaret Burke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Burke of Amboy, and Harvey Steder, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Steder of Amboy, were united in marriage. Rev. Father Cain performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Steder is one of Lee County's popular school teachers and will continue teaching at the Maine school.

Mr. Steder is a very successful farmer, now farming the Badger farm southeast of Amboy.

Miss Gladys Burke, sister of the bride, and George Steder, cousin of the bridegroom, attended the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Steder will occupy their own home some time in February. They have the best wishes of friends and relatives.

Wesleyan Missionary Society Meeting

The January meeting of the Wesleyan Missionary Society of the Methodist church was held Friday evening, receiving the gracious hospitality of Rev. and Mrs. Stephenson at the parsonage. Despite the wintry evening a fair number gathered for the delicious picnic supper at 6:30.

After supper Miss Shelhamer, the president, took charge and the meeting was opened with the singing of two hymns, following which Mrs. Bills gave the Scripture reading and devotional service, and all united in the Lord's Prayer. The regular business was transacted and it was voted to hold a rummage sale in the church Jan. 19th.

Miss Virginia Hawkins favored with a beautiful piano solo, responding to an encore and Mrs. George gave a vocal solo which was heartily enjoyed. The Home Mission topic was a report of an address given by an educated Cherokee Indian girl at a convention telling of the problems of Indian youth in securing an education and asking help from the church for them. Miss Grose read the Foreign Mission topic, an appealing story of the rescue of a half-caste African girl and her training into happy Christian womanhood by one of our missionaries.

Rev. Stephenson read a letter, of interest to all our members, from the wife of Bishop Fisher telling what a splendid beginning the young missionaries adopted by the Dixon church are making in their work in India. This closed the formal program and the remainder of the evening was spent in trying some amusing stunts and listening to the radio bringing to a close a very pleasant evening.

Mr. Haight Was Honored at Banquet; Regret His Departure

The thirty-two employees of the Montgomery-Ward Co. store in this city last evening made G. Harold Haight, retiring manager of the store, the guest of honor at a farewell banquet, served in the store assembly hall. A very tempting dinner was enjoyed, after which several of the employees voiced their friendship for Mr. Haight, stressed the pleasant relations which have existed in the store during his management, and expressed their regret at his departure this evening. Mr. Haight, who has been manager of the store since its establishment here, has been promoted to the position of district superintendent, to accept which he will go to Chicago this evening. The local store has not been advised of the name of his successor here.

FASHION HINTS—

PRINCESS THEME
Spring coats and little frocks lean towards the semi-princess theme. One of a new dull orange has its back gored and piped to emphasize the new line.

COLORFUL BLOUSE
A beige suit allows its blouse color freedom. The blouse is of beige crepe de chine with intricate incrustations of Egyptian red, yellow and black.

BOTH SIDES
Using both sides of black crepe satin, a daytime frock has a circular apron at the back and sides of the shiny side with the dull side for the rest of the skirt.

"WIDOW ROSE"
A new shade of pink is called, in snappy Paris fashion, "widow rose." It is a pink that has more than a dash of mauve in it, making it almost as lavender as pink.

NEW GLOVES
A new style of slip-ons in very fine French suede have open work backs that look dressy as lace. They come only in light shades.

GOLD AND WHITE
Nothing is lovelier for evening right now than gold and white. A broadcote georgette has an all-over design in fine gold flowers, like dots against a lattice work of very, very fine gold threads. It is made with gold shoulder straps and gold flowers at both sides of the hips.

BACK FLARE
Jenny uses the new idea of having the skirt of a black satin frock circular in back with much flare, and the front tiered, with charming gracefulness.

CUFF BUTTONS
A daytime frock of green and white striped asperic has its collar made very femininely, with a tie and ends, and then uses mannish cuffs with cuff buttons of silver, set in semi-precious green stones.

FRILLY TOUCH
A white crepe de chine blouse, piped with red, has a sweet little decoration in the form of one-inch frills outlining a little vest and running up the outside of the long sleeves.

BOLERO THEME
The bolero theme is being emphasized. A brilliant yellow flat crepe, made on princess lines has a yellow and white all-over embroidery sleeveless bolero. It is a gorgeous style for a very slender figure.

POPULAR HANDKERCHIEFS
Hand-made, white linen handkerchiefs with whipped-back edges and double row hand-drawn threads, in shades of red, open, reindeer tan and emerald have appeared on the market.

"WAY OVER YONDER."

Dr. Charles Edward Bishop has been made a professor emeritus by the University of West Virginia. After spending 50 years studying and teaching Greek, he has retired from active service; but he retains a desk in the university hall which houses Greek statuary, and there he remains every day, moving quietly about among the relics of an age that passed away more than 2000 years ago.

The old gentleman explains his refusal to leave the place thus:

"I found Greek too interesting to give up. I love to study it; there is such a bigness to the classics—such a way-over-yonder-ness to it."

It is a homely expression that he uses; an informal, folksy sort of remark to make about a subject that usually calls for stilted language and flowery verbiage. But it shows very plainly just how he feels about it, and somehow it makes one feel that this old gentleman, retired to the very modest comfort of a superannuated professor's pension, is fortunate and contented.

There are various kinds of success stories afloat in this country, and most of them begin with the subject slaving for a dollar a day and end with the same man lolling at his ease in a Long Island estate, with a $100,000-a-year income and a stable of blooded horses. Anyhow, they represent success chiefly as a steady upward climb in the financial world, and that's too bad. It's quite possible for a man to retire, in his '70s, on $40 a week, and still be eminently successful.

The ends that men seek in this world are many and varied; but nearly all of them—the one worth pursuing, that is—are built about some phase or other of that "way-over-yonder-ness" that Dr. Bishop speaks about.

Every man, in his youth or later, gets a gleam from "way over yonder." Sometimes it's one thing, and sometimes it's another; but always it is something more or less apart from the workaday world—a glimpse of a fairer time, perhaps, either in the future or in the past, in which one's possibilities in life could be given fuller rein, in which there would be fewer of the things one does because one has to, and more of the things one does because one like to.

And most of us, more or less unconsciously, spend the greater part of our lives looking for a realization of that gleam. For, in point of fact, we are not satisfied with our world. We know it could easily be a much better place than it is. We keep that vision from "way over yonder" tucked away in the back of our heads, and because we have seen perfection we fret at having to endure perfection.

So the old professor at West Virginia University is fortunate—and successful. At the close of a lifetime of work he is able to retire to a quiet nook and steep himself in the things that come from "way over yonder." Most of us never get that close to it. Old age and comparative poverty are cheap prices to pay for it.

OUR WAR WITH JAPAN.

We haven't heard quite so much in recent years about that American-Japanese war that was accepted as inevitable a short time ago. Somehow, the impression seems to be gaining that the Japanese sincerely want to be friendly.

A little dispatch from Tokio the other day told how the new Mikado reviewed his fleet. In the line of 180 fighting ships were eight "capital ships"—battleships and battle cruisers armed with huge guns. They made a magnificent, warlike spectacle.

But in 1919 the late Mikado reviewed his fleet, and there were 21 capital ships in line. All but eight have been scrapped under the Washington treaty. It does look as if Japan really meant her protestations of friendship. No nation with hostile designs would throw away 13 battleships.

If we can lend enough money to Germany, it is just possible Germany can pay enough to England and France so that England and France can pay us their war debts. Fair enough.

Scientists have traced man back to a fish. It looks as though they're on the right track at last.

The messages to Mars go unanswered, which seems to advance the theory there are no women on the planet.

Maybe the idea of the street car companies is to teach people to stand up for themselves.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KOSCK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

As Clowny soared and sailed around, the others stood down on the ground and watched him very closely. It was quite a sight to see. The wings the fairy let him take were very strong and did not break. "Course Clowny felt real proud and he exclaimed, 'Just look at me.' Then Scouty cried, 'You're not so good. It looks like anybody could stay in the air if they just had the wings you're using now. Just fly down here and let me try, and I will shortly prove that I can do some little tricks. Come on, and I will show you how.'"

"All right, I'll let you have your turn," said Clowny. "But you'll have to learn to keep the wings a-flapping or you'll topple from the air." So Scouty tried, and did real well, and then he heard the others yell, "It's our turn now. You take too long. That really isn't fair."

When all of them had had their try at sailing gently, low and high, they thanked the little fairy for the use of her fine wings. Said Clowny, "My that sort of fun is better than to walk or run. I wish I owned a pair of those. They're handy little things."

Just then a black bird swooped down near and filled the little band with fear. "Look out!" exclaimed a frightened dwarf. "He'll take you, if you don't." It grabbed a fairy in its beak, and Clowny was the first to speak. Said he, "You think you'll steal her, but I'm certain that you won't."

And, as the bird began to rise, it looked 'bout twice brave Clowny's size. The fairy was so frightened she could hear her own heart beat. The others soon saw Clowny race, until he reached the proper place. And then he leaped right out and grabbed the big bird by his feet.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

THE LOVE AND THE YEARS

By Mrs. Charles Florabelle Throop.
Scene—A bachelor apartment.
Time—Midnight; the dawn of the New Year.

Bells are ringing. The snow is falling outside, and the moon is shining. A table, spread with the remains of a supper, stands disordered in the center of the room, the candle-shades awry, the tapers flickering low. The cloth is stained and rumpled from the over-turned glasses. There are dying logs on the hearth, and their piny odor mixes fragrant and sadly, with that of drooping roses. From the next room, where the guests have gone with their host, who is giving his farewell supper to the men that are to act as his ushers during this day which has just come, there sounds the music of a banjo and a piano, with voices singing:

"To you and the glad young year—sweetheart!
To the glad young year—and you!"

There. There is the kiss of clinking glasses. The bells cease their ringing, and the clock strikes the half hour. The Old Year, who has been crouching by the dying fire, falls dead in a huddled heap upon the hearth.

The New Year, laughing, looks in through the heavy curtains. From dim corners of the room flutter Little Loves, blowing kisses to the New Year, and, gathering roses from the table, they pelt them at him, beckoning him in.

But one Little Love goes sadly to the side of the Old Dead Year and places a rose on his bosom, sobbing: "How sweet he was, how sweet!" The Little Love turns mockingly away as, with flower garlands, they draw the Young Year into the room and guide him to the chair at the head of the table.

"Poor Old Year?" sighs the Little Love.

"I found him very slow," sneers the False Love, and he yawns.

"He brought me no luck," pouts the Forgotten Love, "he failed to recognize me when the Spring had gone. The New Year will be kinder, I hope."

"He promised much, but gave little," says the Selfish Love, a fat little fellow with a double chin.

"I outgrew him," remarks the Calf Love. "He was behind the times, poor old chap."

"He went out like a Roman candle," says the Warm Love. "He was not lasting."

He joins his fellows clustering around the smiling New Year—all but the one Love that hovers by the hearth where the Old Year lies.

"Here are roses for your hair," says the False Love, twining faded blossoms in the curls of the New Year.

"And wine for your lips," adds the Fickle Love, offering him dregs in a glass.

"No, no," cries the Pure Love, and pushes toward him a finger bowl of water.

"Here's ice for it," says the Cold Love.

"It needs flavor," remarks the Naughty Love.

"It needs flame," urges the Warm Love, drawing over a candle, the shade of which has ignited.

"Take them all," says the Big Love.

"And die of surfeit," cries the Little Love. "Be a miser if you would keep your treasure."

"Right you are," exclaims the Selfish Love. "Only valuable affection is appreciated."

"Ha! ha! ha!" laughs the Naughty Love, "he knows—the beggar."

The Forgotten Love sighs over a rose. "I was proud once," he moans, "I was forgotten."

"I rode away," smiles the False Love, "I shall be remembered through the ages."

"What badly-rot," lisps the Calf Love, "you know nothing about it."

"What are we, I wonder?" questions the Pure Love.

"Snow on the mountain-top," answers the Cold Love.

"Fire that burns out," murmurs the Warm Love.

"Everything," says the Big Love.

"Nothing," corrects the Little Love.

"Jokes," laughs the Naughty Love.

"Tragedies," moans the Forgotten Love.

"Gain," speaks out the Selfish Love.

"Pleasure," snickers the False Love.

"Amusement," lisps the Fickle Love.

He is listening to the voice of the Little Lonesome Love crooning beside the Old Dead Year—unheeding of his presence.

He speaks for the first time.

"You are all wrong," he says, "you are unreal as phantoms. None of you shall abide here with me."

There is a painful silence, and the Loves flutter sadly back to their dim corners. The turquoise morning comes through the curtains. The Little Lone Love kisses the rose on the Old Year's breast.

"Good-bye, my friend," he whispers.

The New Year draws near, looking kindly upon the two.

"Who are you?" he questions gently. "Are you the Dead Love, that you remain with the Old Year when all the others have flown away?"

"I am the True Love," says the Little Lone Love; "the only Love that remains always. And the Old Year was very good. I know you not, stranger."

"Let us be friends, then," says the New Year reverently.

The men troop back into the dining room. Their hats are even more awry than the candle shades, and their collars are wilted. They are singing, badly out of tune, something like this:

"To you and the sweet Old Year, dear heart,

To the sweet Old Year—and you."

Cataract Grows Most Painlessly

Within the eye and behind the pupil is a clear, transparent substance called the crystalline lens. It is what its name implies, a crystal-like homogeneous lens body which is slightly elastic, with the power of focusing light rays on the back of the eye. To be most useful this lens must remain perfectly clear, if it or its capsule becomes opaque (non-transparent) the condition is called cataract. There are different forms of cataract.

aract; congenital (born with), traumatic (from injury) or acquired (as in old age). The latter is probably the most common form. Many of the diseased conditions of the human body that affect the nutrition of the eyeball may produce cataract. In a sense, it is generally secondary to or the result of some nutritional disturbance. Conditions such as diabetes, auto-intoxication, eye-strain and injuries, are considered existing causes.

Some types of cataract are hereditary. Sight will not be markedly affected until the nucleus (area of the pupil) is involved. As the cataract advances, the lens swells, becomes more convex, and the patient may be able to discard his reading glasses for a short period. This is sometimes called "second sight."

A beginning cataract has no special symptoms, and may be mistaken for other common eye conditions. It is painless, without inflammation, and progresses unseen to the naked eye. Early diagnosis is easy for the skilled eye physician, but not so for the untutored. Glaucoma, a most dreaded eye disease, which is not so uncommon as once thought, it too often mistaken for cataract. The two in early stages behave much alike. It is a fatal error to mistake glaucoma for cataract.

Recognized early, a cataract may at times be checked or delayed in its progress by treatment, which con-

Coffins For Killers Is Welcome Chicago Offers N. Y. Gunmen

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Coffins for killers was the jolly sentiment pronounced today by Police Commissioner Russell in response to reports that 30 New York gangsters were en route to Chicago.

"We've a coffin for every one that gets here," he said. "We had one to fit Frank Orlando not so long ago, and the supply is still good." Orlando, a robber-slayer from New Jersey, with a reward on his head, was slain by police while he fled from a robbery.

The report of a gangster influx was based on the crusade of New York's new police commissioner, Grover Whalen, by which many bad men are said to have been driven from that city.

REVENUE LAWS NEED CHANGING ASSEMBLY TOLD

Several Associations Ask Legislators to Take Action

Springfield, Ill. —(AP)—Whether the 56th general assembly will tackle the arduous problem of revising the state's revenue laws is a question which just now is of utmost interest to a dozen or more state organizations.

These organizations have expressed the opinion that radical changes should be made in the taxing laws, and have made public reports pointing out the evils now existing and recommending remedies; and the Governor-elect has made more than mention of the fact that under his regime an equitable taxing system would be an aim. But its ramifications are so wide that the taxing problem is one that the assembly may well shun.

It is evident that there will be much agitation for reform but it is more than problematical whether anything definite will be done.

Lately, The Associated Press, in an attempt to shed some light on the problem, addressed a questionnaire to officials of a number of state organizations, and to a number of persons whose interest in taxation had brought them to the fore. Eight individuals responded. These included William Butterworth, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce and chairman of a special commission of the Illinois Manufacturers Association investigating taxation; John Camlin, president of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce; Omar H. Wright, president of the Illinois Bankers; John Walker, president of the state Federation of Labor; John Dailey, chairman of a special committee of the Illinois legislature, on revenue; Robert C. Moore, executive secretary and legislative representative of the Illinois Teachers Association; Douglas Sutherland, executive secretary of the Civic Federation of Chicago; and George Fairweather, vice-chairman of the Joint Commission on Real Estate valuation in Cook county.

Varied Opinions
While the opinions expressed in these answers were varied, from the technical and detailed account by Mr. Fairweather to the short simple statement of abuses and remedies by Mr. Walker, there ran throughout all of them a thread, of unanimity.

Every individual pointed out the fallacy of attempting to operate a twentieth century stage government on a nineteenth century constitution. Senator Dailey, then in the midst of his investigations in Cook county, declared that "we must have a constitutional change, in order to permit the taxation of hidden wealth." This handicap has been pointed out by members of the legislature when they attempted to change laws.

The second evil most widely cited was the number and method of taxing bodies. The teachers' representative declared there are too many small units of taxation, and the chamber of commerce spokesman echoed that the number of independent taxing bodies should be cut down. The manufacturers' representative declared that his organization was preparing bills for the express purpose of reorganization of taxing and spending units, both state and local. Mr. Fairweather suggested that uniform rules be promulgated for all taxing bodies, and Mr. Walker added that there was undoubtedly no unanimity in a basis for assessment.

Despite the failure of the income tax bill in the last assembly, this was proposed as a partial remedy for conditions. The federation of labor and the bankers association spokesmen both said that an income tax might do the job. The teachers' representative agreed, but doubted whether such a law could be passed, although under the present constitutional limitation it seemed the only way to get at so-called "hidden wealth."

Assessors Blamed
Because of "ignorance, laxness, or wilful dishonesty," taxing officials got no little share of the blame for conditions and the state tax commission did not come out unscathed. The teachers and labor charged unequal tax burdens due to misdeeds of assessors.

Senator Dailey's committee found "a condition of injustice and favoritism in the matter of assessments, of a most glaring character." Mr. Moore declared "our tax system is poorly administered by the multitude of officials with their widely differing abilities, virtues and judgements." Mr. Wright called special attention to a conference board, wherein it was said: "The focus of the maladministration of the Illinois general property tax is the state tax commission. So long as this body remains inactive and impassive, little can be accomplished toward reform."

In a summary, the recommendation of these eight men were:

Revision of present laws, amounting almost to a re-statement; cutting down the number of taxing units; promulgation of uniform rules for all taxing units to follow; business efficiency in the administration of the laws; and some method of gaining revenue from "hidden wealth," the income tax being the only specific proposal.

With this testimony before it, as well as that presented by other individuals and organizations, the assembly will have the task of sifting the good from the bad; and it is agreed that the lawmakers may well take all the four months allotted them by the Governor-elect Emmerson for this one task.

So fleet it goes,
But our Father knows
We are nearer to Him for this.

SCOUTMASTERS
OF LEE-OGLE
TO MEET HERE

Appreciation Dinner is Announced for Next
Friday Evening

BY GUSTAV ALBRECHT
Lee Co. Executive

The Scoutmasters of Lee and Ogle Counties are going to celebrate next Friday at the Hotel Dixon. This is going to be an appreciation dinner for the Scoutmasters and assistants for the work they have done during the past year for the Scouts in their community. Also for their efforts in putting Scouting over the top this past year. In October we had a total of 1250 Scouts in the Blackhawk Area Council. We promised James E. West, our Chief Scout Executive, that we would have 1500 Scouts by the end of the year. We also told him that we would have 75 active troops. Our Scoutmasters came through in fine shape to help us reach that goal. Our registration on Jan. 1st showed a total of 1517 Scouts and 76 troops. By June 1st we would like to have 2000 Scouts and 90 active troops. Scouting is growing in our communities and when parents realize what Scouting does for their boy it should be the wish and aim that their boy should become a Scout. A day does not pass but what some parent whose son is a Scout stops the writer and tells him how thankful he is that there is such an organization as the Boy Scouts of America. What is better for the boy than guided training. Churches are realizing that they owe something to the young people and are asking that a Boy Scout troop be established in their church. Any church can organize a troop if they care to. The Executive will be more than willing to help.

One of the big topics which will be brought up at this meeting will be the merit badge exposition. Each troop has been assigned a booth or else they have combined with another in putting up a booth. A two reel film showing the St. Louis exposition will be shown at that time so the men can get an idea of what we are trying to do with ours. The exposition is assuming a real piece of work in the making. 72 Merit badges will be shown and the work will be done by Scouts under the guidance of their Scoutmaster. This is going to be a two day show and the dates are Friday and Saturday, Feb. 15 and 16. Reserve them now as Scouts are going to have the tickets for this show very shortly.

Another topic which will be brought up for discussion is the formation of a Scoutmasters Club. This club is to meet monthly and spend part of the time in hearing talks beneficial to their work and part of the time in discussing troop problems. This dinner is going to be at the expense of the Council for Scoutmasters and their assistants. It is open to anyone and the cost per plate will be $1.00. Reservations must be in the hands of the Executive not later than Wednesday, Jan. 9th. This is going to be a real "Get Together."

ROCHELLE NEWS

Rochelle—"We were victorious in war, let us be victorious in peace," declared State Commander Dave Shillinglaw, of Chicago, addressing 100 Legionnaires, city officials, clergy and civic heads at a 6 o'clock dinner held in the Legion Hall here last night.

In explaining the purposes of the Legion Commander Shillinglaw stated that there are two things we are emphasizing this year: internal organization of posts and stimulation of posts activities. Emphasis is being brought to bear to get each individual post to adopt the proper by-laws establish adequate committees and to follow a definite plan of community service. Each man is urged to lay his talents before his commander and to do a man's sized job. By stimulation of post activities the commander defined an active post as one that grows.

Taking up the purposes of the Legion as a whole Commander Shillinglaw reminded the dinner guests that the Legion originated in war. War started with fear, which was transformed to courage, bravery, endurance and love enabling America to carry on successfully.

The Legion has started adjusted compensation, hospitalization the Veterans Bureau and reduced unemployment. An endowment fund was started, membership stimulated, and community activity stimulated.

The commander predicted that it will not be until 1938 that the peak in medical cases will be reached and asserted that the Legion acting as a unit secured congressional activity because congress only acts when its constituency speaks and our job is to speak for the disabled.

Another task the Legion has successfully assumed is care of widows and orphans. In Illinois 300 are cared for at Normal where cottages have been built, and individual care is given under cottage mothers. The Legion has had a lot of these children adopted, clothes, feed and educate them and a few have been sent to college. Additional cottages will be requested of the legislature.

The Americanism program is another big plan carried on by the Legion. It was defined as the striving toward an ideal where a man can advance and contribute to citizenship problems in their community. "We believe in compulsory education, the stamping out of illiteracy, physical education and the proper restriction of immigration. The Legion believes in getting out of the way and in military responsibility of its citizenship, national defense and the preservation of our ideals. We believe in the Legion and the Legion backed the National Defense act providing for the reserve officers and citizen training camps and backs the universal draft act for legislative preparedness for war, the taking of profit out of war.

A word of warning was uttered by the Commander recalling the necessity to be alert to offset the powerful lobby of foreign language newspapers to influence immigration. General Pershing was quoted that "We do not object to the immigrant bringing to America his folk love and best traditions but we do object to his deciding an American question for a foreign reason."

Our prosperity and development reviewed and interpreted as a great responsibility and our greatest national danger cited as not ignorance but our own indifference.

"The Legion is, stated the speaker, the greatest power in America today to offset this influence and development of community responsibility thru the Legion will accomplish this end."

George O'Brien acted as toastmaster and song leader and short greetings acknowledged from Mayor W. B. McHenry and Commander John P. Manning.

The course dinner was served by the Auxiliary, the Albert Lind four piece orchestra furnishing the music.

HE IS JUST AWAY
I cannot say and I will not say that he is dead, he's just away. With a cheery smile and a wave of his hand.

He has wandered into an unknown land. And left us dreaming how very far it needs must be, since he lingered.

And you, O you who the wildest yearn For the old-time step and the glad return. Think of him faring on, as dear In the love of there as the love of here. Think of him just the same, I say— He is not dead—he's just away.

FEES COLLECTED
BY SEC. OF STATE

Emmerson's Report for the Past Year is Submitted Today

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5—(AP)—Fees collected by Secretary of State Emmerson in 1928 totalled $19,278,012.85, he announced today.

Automobiles and corporations paid the bulk of that total, the largest yearly amount yet paid the Secretary of State's office.

The corporation department collected $3,576,232.81 in 1928 as compared with $3,418,071.64 in 1927—an increase of $158,161.17. Foreign corporations paid $1,088,405.33 and domestic concerns $2,487,827.48. Twelve years ago fees of the corporation department were less than half a million dollars.

Automobile license fees aggregated $15,521,325.50 an increase of $601,932.59 over 1927. These fees have been paid into the state treasury as part of the road fund while all other receipts have gone into the state treasury.

There was one automobile last year to every five persons in Illinois. Licenses totalled 1,314,093, an increase of 58,582 over 1927. The department licensed 190,033 trucks which is an increase of 5469. There were 4548 dealers, a decrease. Figuring four cars to a dealer, the grand total of automobiles, both passenger cars and trucks, in operation in Illinois, is 1,522,036 or approximately 65,000 more than a year ago.

Licenses were also issued 5826 motorcycles, 3742 trailers, and 94,169 chauffeurs last year. There were 6200 fewer chauffeurs licensed than in 1927.

The securities department collected $149,683.55, an increase of $22,974.34 over last year. Nine years operation of this department has barred approximately three-quarters of a billion worthless securities from Illinois markets, Mr. Emmerson said.

Collections of the executive department totalled $30,196.00. This department registers notary publics and justices of the peace, and files official papers from the governor's office.

The index department, with $374.50 collected, receives small compensation for certifying copies of laws, chartering villages and registering laws.

France imports considerable quantities of leather each year, although it is one of the first most important leather-producing countries of the world and exported more leather in 1927 than did any other country.

END OF ROAD IN
FISTIANA FRIDAYGreat Little Scotch-Wop
Has Lost All But
GamenessBY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The end of the road, a long and honorable way that has wound through fistiana for over eighteen years, appeared today in the sight of Johnny Dundee, brave little warrior who has fought them all.

Heart broken that he was not considered a fit opponent despite his 35 years and over 400 ring battles, for young Al Sangor, latest of the lightweight sensations, the bounding Scotch-Wop asked a chance to prove his worth against a lesser opponent. He got it last night and went down to defeat, beaten to the decision by Charley Phil Rosenberg, former bantamweight king, in a ten round semi-final at Madison Square Garden.

There is little left of the ring technique of one of the greatest little warriors of all times, a champion once in both the featherweight and junior lightweight divisions. The heart of the little Italian, big enough and game enough for a heavyweight, still carried on, driving him on into a losing battle, but the flesh has given away to age.

Old Tricks Failed.
At times Johnny baffled the rugged Rosenberg, ten years his junior and five pounds heavier, with the lightning left hooks, the bounding footwork, and cagey swapping at close quarters that made him famous. A few times Dundee tried his old trick of bounding backward into the ropes, leaping forth again to spear his opponent off-balance. But last night this maneuver, a trick Johnny himself invented, was just a slow-motion exhibition of how it used to be done.

At the close of the bout, Dundee, who fought Benny Leonard six times in no-decision bouts, Johnny Kilbane, Freddy Welsh and Frankie Burns, was just a tired old man, his black thatch, now thinning, tangled over weary eyes, his face lined with marks of fatigue. There was a blotch of blood above his right eye, souvenir of a sharp right to the temple in the third round.

Although Johnny was beaten solidly about the body at times at long range, where he once was invincible, the Scotch-Wop had the satisfaction of flooring Rosenberg for no count in the sixth round with a right to the chin, thus adding in perhaps his final engagement, to the reputation he has always borne for light hitting.

German Looks Good
The main bout, overshadowed in sentimental interest at least by the battle of the former champions, added more impetus to the surge of the young German heavyweight, Max Schmeling, who easily trounced Joe Sekyra, blonde Bohemian from Dayton.

Schmeling, who is almost a duplicate in appearance of Jack Dempsey—the same cast of countenance, low-er black brows, long slim muscles, and bobbing weave—fought for the second time in America. In his first engagement he knocked out Joe Monte of Boston, and last night did all but that to Sekyra.

The Dayton youth was blood-drenched and wobbling at the close from the short hooks Schmeling threw from a crouch to his head. He rarely played for Sekyra's body and might have knocked him out with a more varied attack. At it was Schmeling drew round after round of applause from the 13,531 fans. He seemed impervious to punishment, a sharp hitter with either hand, a smart clever boxer.

DIZZY RACE IN BIG TEN SEEMS
TO BE ASSUREDNearly All of School
Quintets Ready to Start Season

Chicago, Jan. 5.—(AP)—What promises to be one of the fastest and dizziest Big Ten basketball championship races in years starts tonight with eight teams in action on four fronts.

Northwestern's Wildcats, who showed more class than any other Big Ten team during the preliminary season, tangles with Michigan's up and coming team at Ann Arbor; Illinois invades Purdue; Ohio State invades Iowa, and Wisconsin clashes Minnesota at Minneapolis.

Only Indiana, co-champion with Purdue last year, and Chicago do not start their championship campaigns tonight. Indiana will rest, while Chicago will close its preliminary program by meeting the Butler Bulldogs.

To those who have been attempting to pick a winner, the championship race appears to be a toss-up. Every team, with the possible exception of Chicago, Ohio State and Minnesota, are regarded as contenders. Minnesota, which hasn't won the cage title since 1919, got off to a poor start, but came back to win three straight. Ohio State has been far from impressive, while Chicago lost much valuable time and experience because of the influenza wave which closed the Midway school for three weeks.

While Indiana has had a poor preliminary season, the Hoosiers were believed to be very much in the race. Losing two and winning the games, they scored less points than their opponents, but they have a habit of coming back to win titles.

Northwestern, Illinois and Wisconsin were the only three members of the Big Ten team to come through undefeated in the practice schedule and appear good.

LEWIS DROPPED
MAT CROWN TO
GUS SONNENBERGStrangler Butted Out of Ring and Title
by Ex-Grid StarBY WILLIAM R. KING
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Boston, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Wrestling had a new champion today—"Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, former Dartmouth football player, almost a novice at the game.

Sonnenberg won the heavyweight title when Ed "Strangler" Lewis was disqualified in their match here last night. Sonnenberg had taken the first fall with his "flying tackle" in 29 minutes and 46 seconds, and when they returned to the ring, he tried to drop the champion again with the same tactics.

The rugged football player, who after college continued his gridiron career with the Providence Steamrollers, a professional team, butted Lewis seven times in rapid succession, forcing the champion to fall or crawl outside of the ropes to escape punishment.

Each time Lewis sought safety outside, he was ordered to return by referee Leon Burbank. The official gave Lewis ample warning and, after the seventh but, counted him out of his title, which he turned over to Sonnenberg to the great delight of the 20,000 spectators who filled the spacious Boston Garden.

Lewis received $50,000 for his night's work. Sonnenberg's share ran about $8,000. Total receipts exceeded $72,000.

He Ran the Wrong Way

Here is Roy Riegels of the University of California team and captain-elect for 1929, who made a sensational 70-yard run in the New Year's Day game with Georgia Tech at Pasadena—an excellent run except that he got confused and ran in the wrong direction. Riegels grounded the ball one foot from his own goal line. On the next play Lom's punt from behind his goal line was blocked and it was a safety and two points for Georgia Tech which later enabled the Golden Tornado to nose out an 8 to 7 victory.

KNOTHOLE NEWS

VOL. 4. JANUARY 5, 1929. No. 1.

As we start the New Year there are many things we feel thankful for. Good health, happiness and a comfortable home. And thank goodness, our roof don't "leak." Leave it to MULE-HIDE to keep comfort within and rain and melting snow without.

Scout Masters, Board Members and Commissioners of the Blackhawk Area Council of Boy Scouts will hold a banquet at the Hotel Dixon Jan. 11th, at 7 o'clock.

When we look over our books and see all the folks who have been trading with us year after year, it sure does make us feel happy. To us it indicates that our policy of selling only "Quality" merchandise, at fair prices, is a policy that people do appreciate.

Sound Logic!

Don't try to buy a thing too cheap. From those with things to sell, because the goods you'll have to keep. And time will always tell.

The price you paid you'll soon forget. The goods you get will stay. The price you will not long regret. The quality you may. Whether it's lumber, suits or bedding. Remember this advice, Don't let the price control the goods. But goods control the price.

VERY OBLIGING

Meet Miss Twelvetees

Movie omens of 1929 are bright for Helen Twelvetees, according to Hollywood soothsayers. She has a swell name, anyway.

She Pays Husband's Former Wife

Mme. Irene Pavloska prima donna of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, has guaranteed $45 a week alimony to be granted Mrs. Edna Mesrow, divorced wife of Dr. Maurice Mesrow, who is now Pavloska's husband. Pavloska and Mesrow were married just 24 hours after the doctor's divorce from Edna Mesrow became effective.

On Way to Top Again

Helen Harris was well on her way to stardom as Reginald Denny's leading lady. Then she was injured in an automobile accident and for several months was out of the picture. Now she is coming back. She is nearly a perfect photographic subject.

SO'S HE NOW
The prodigal returned early the next morning.
"Where have you been?" asked his indignant wife.
After a moment's reflection, he ventured, "The cemetery."
"Good gracious!" cried his wife. "Who's dead?"
"The whole bally lot of 'em," replied her husband, cheerfully.—Tit-Bits.

PREPARATIONS
MRS. JONES: Mother writes that she will be here tomorrow for a long visit.
MR. JONES (to young son) Tommy, didn't you ask me the other day to buy you an air gun, a trumpet and a drum?
TOMMY: Yes, dad.
MR. JONES: Well, I shall bring them tonight.—Tit-Bits.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

ASHTORETH ASHIE is spending an exciting evening with HOLLI HART in a little house on the top of a mountain that towers above a tiny island in the Caribbean Sea. A most romantic spot.

Ashtoreth is a stenographer. Mr. Hart is her employer. Rich beyond her wildest dreams, and handsome. Considerably older—but then—a girl can't have everything.

Ashtoreth, who has been ill, is taking a West Indies cruise. She meets Hart quite by accident in Dominica, and proceeds to make the most of it.

Her trip, so far, has been most adventuresome. MONA DE MUSSET, a fascinating woman with whom she roomed, died at sea. JACK SMYTHE, an Englishman, made love to her. And all the while Ashtoreth snubbed her outrageous.

Ashtoreth caps the climax by purposely missing the boat, and going with Hollis Hart to his little house on the mountain.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVI

THEY sat on the gallery and watched the bougainvillea climbing in the moonlight. And Hollis brought out his guitar and sang ballads of breaking hearts, and lovely ladies, and summer moons. And one about "a beggar with knots in her voice."

"That's like Mona," said Ashtoreth, "she had knots in her voice." He took her hand and kissed it. "Now don't talk about Mona," he admonished. "I can't have you feeling badly, you know."

Tell me, Ashtoreth—are you happy, my dear?

"Happy?" she cried. "I'm simply thrilled to death! It's dreadfully exciting, you know—being compromised by a famous person like you."

"I wish you wouldn't talk that way," he objected. "You know I'm fearfully concerned about what people may say."

"Oh, please," she besought, "don't begin your profound and proper lamentations again."

He propped his guitar against the rail and leaned toward her. "Young lady," he warned, "I'm a rouse and rogue."

She laughed delightedly. "Oh, I know," she assured him. "I've read just columns and columns about you. And whole sheets in the Sunday supplements. . . . That's why it's such fun."

"Tell me, really," he urged, and his voice was lowered confidentially. "What do you think about me?"

"Well," she said. "I think you're awfully nice and quite handsome, and terribly clever. And you're the nicest cowlack!"

She reached and touched it gently. "Now what do you think about me?" she parried.

He lit a cigarette before replying. "I'll be darned if I know," he admitted.

"Do you think I'm nice?" she prodded. He nodded solemnly. "Awfully nice."

"And pretty?" "Beautiful," he corrected. "And clever?" "And laugher."

"Now that's just it," he pronounced. "You're either awfully clever, or you're awfully dumb, my dear. Probably you're clever. Most women are, I think. I'm a very stupid fellow myself."

"Oh, no you're not!" she protested.

"After he died," she said, "we simply didn't know what to do. Mother was all broken up. So Sadie's mother—Mrs. Morton—she's a wonderfully good-hearted soul—she insisted upon taking us in. We were so glad to be able to clasp a friendly hand that it didn't make a bit of difference who the Mortons were—or what they were. They're just as common as they can be. Hollis and poor. And uneducated—and everything. But they were beautifully kind to mother and me. . .

Beyond all Expectations!

-say those who have seen the Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History-

-a Six in the price range of the four!

The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History has now been seen and inspected by millions of people in every section of America—and everywhere it has been hailed as exceeding all expectations.

Many looked forward to finding a motor of exceptional design—but none expected a six-cylinder valve-in-head engine which develops 32% more power than its famous predecessor, higher speed and faster acceleration, and which delivers better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

Many anticipated numerous factors contributing to ease and safety of control—but were amazed at such quality car features as full ball-bearing steering mechanism with latest flat-type wheel, foot controlled headlamps and newly designed, quiet, easy-acting four-wheel brakes.

Many were confident that the new Chevrolet would be a comfortable car—but were delightfully surprised to find such outstanding comfort features as adjustable driver's seat in all closed models, fully cushioned seat backs and larger, roomier bodies.

And although everyone expected that Fisher genius would contribute a new note of beauty in the new Chevrolet—no one ever dreamed that it would be possible to achieve in any low-priced car the elements of beauty, luxury and safety so worthy of direct comparison with the finest and costliest automobiles.

If you have not already made a personal inspection of the new Chevrolet, we urge you to do so at your earliest convenience. The beautiful new models are now on display on our showroom floor—and you are cordially invited to call.

—J. LEO SUGRUE
Washington Times

"The Chevrolet Six brings a new standard of comparison to the low-price field. It is an exceptional value in every respect."
—ROBERT COPELAND

"The new Chevrolet is a triumph for volume production. The car at its price is one of the greatest achievements ever recorded in the automobile industry. Its beauty is a treat; its riding comfort a new delight and its performance a real sensation."

A wise man does not live as though his income couldn't stop—he makes provision for sickness, lack of work, accidents or his declining years. Are you wise?

The improvidence of a large number of people is not due so much to a desire to spend every cent they earn, as to their failure to understand the value of small economies. Make a start.
